The most notable features introduced in FIFA 22 include; “Ball and Player Shape”, “Player Impact”, “Max Moves” and many more FIFA-specific features like Pro-Level Attributes, Sets and Training Camps. "This year we are introducing a feature set that is equivalent to the peak of what the football community has been demanding since FIFA 19," said Matt Prior, Executive Producer at EA SPORTS.

"The introduction of ‘Ball and Player Shape’, ‘Player Impact’ and ‘Movement Boosts’, along with a substantial number of new FIFA-specific gameplay enhancements, brings the best FIFA gameplay experience yet." FIFA 22 will be available worldwide for Xbox One, PlayStation 4, Nintendo Switch and PC. Here is the brief list of the new features that FIFA 22 offers: FIFA Ball And Player Shape:

Positionally precise, creative touches and more balanced movement on the pitch make the difference. The new ball physics deliver sharper, more accurate ball speed, flight and spin effects.

The ball’s 3D printed form is the most detailed to date with very specific shape, weight, material distribution and feel. Players can now exploit this physics for fluid and unpredictable passing, precise crosses and precise runs by simply placing their foot on the ball. Players can be in one position on the pitch and use motion capture to perform skill moves like no other game in the series. Dynamic Player Impact: New collision detection will give players the ultimate freedom to make their own decisions when it comes to tackling. Players have more control of how they tackle, changing the defender’s movement path and aiding their run to the ball. They can even do things like tackle low or high, and completely change the direction of their run. Teams will also benefit from the new player impact feature as defenders attempt to make themselves harder to beat. Movement Boosts: This new feature elevates the overall performance of your player. Players will now be more agile and more able to move their feet during matches. This allows them to break away from defenders more efficiently, change speeds more quickly, and perform more decisive runs and off the ball movements. Shot Tracking: Add to this the new Decision Making System and you get some dynamic play calling and with 20 differently weighted Shot Tendency Setups from 4 Goal Threats (Moreie, Finkle, Graziano, Westhoff, etc.).
